

FRED Talk Series

Foothill Region Educational Discussions

WHAT

“FRED” Talks are our very own Foothill Region Educational Discussions centered on the emotional wellbeing of our families-the foundation of our communities. The talks will feature local experts in a variety of topics such as: Maternal Wellness, Substance Use, Generational Trauma, Veteran Families, Tribal TANF, Car Seat Safety, Tobacco Education and Health & Nutrition. In addition, FRED talks emphasize early childhood mental health and protective factors to strengthen families.

WHEN & WHERE

These discussions are designed to be brief so you can “lunch and learn” once a month. The upcoming Amador County FRED Talk will be a stand-alone discussion on:

The California Tribal TANF Partnership

Joni Drake, Site Manager, and Lisa Martin, Regional Manager

The California Tribal TANF Partnership (CTTP) is a federal and state funded social service agency that offers services and temporary assistance to Native American families in northern and central California. Learn more about the services provided such as: Cash Assistance, Workplace Success (WEX), Job Readiness Preparation, Parenting/ Healthy Relations and Life Skills/Hard Skills/Essential Skills Workshops.
